GETTYSBURG COLLEGE OPENS

ENTERING UPON A NEW ERA IN ITS HISTORY.

Plans For the Inauguration of Dr. Granville on Thursday, October 20th.

On Thursday morning of this week, Sept. 15, Gettysburg College will begin the seventy-ninth year of its existence and in beginning this year enter upon a new era in its history with a new president and goes forward with a God-speed for a greater Gettysburg from students, alumni, citizens and the Lutheran world.

Many of the old students are already in town and every train is bringing them. The prospects for the Freshman class are very good, the exact number can not be told at the present time, but every indication is for a very large class.

The ceremony of opening the new year will take place in Brua Chapel on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock and with President Granville will be ex-President H. W. McKnight and full attendance of the student body. Many alumni will also be present.

Coach Vail arrived on Tuesday afternoon and will at once go forward with college athletics with his well known earnestness and thoroughness.

The inauguration of Dr. William Granville, formerly of Yale University, as president of Gettysburg College on October 20th, promises to eclipse in unusual features any similar event held by any Pennsylvania college in recent years.

Among the guests will be Gov. Edwin S. Stuart, Dr. Woodrow Wilson, Dr. Ira G. Remsen, and a large number of the most prominent college and university men in the eastern part of the country. A special effort is being made to secure President Taft as the principal guest of honor.

No building in Gettysburg is large enough to accommodate the crowds of alumni and friends of the institution who are coming to this event and arrangements have been made to secure a huge tent which will be pitched on the college grounds and in which the ceremonies will take place. A chorus of several hundred voices is being trained and will be accompanied by one of the largest orchestras in the eastern part of the country.

The inauguration ceremonies will consist of addresses by Secretary Anson Phelps Stokes of Yale, Dr. Granville and several other well known educators, while Governor Stuart or a representative of the State Department of Public Instruction will also be on the program. The ceremony will be preceded by a parade of the representatives of colleges and universities all in academic garb. Following it will be a collation and in the evening a reception by the new president. Arrangements have been perfected for a brilliant electrical display in the evening, the beautiful campus to have all its numerous paths festooned with varicolored lights while arches will be erected and the various buildings illuminated in the same way.

TOWN FATHERS MEET

And Order Agreement With Secretary of War Put Into Writing.

The regular September meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening of last week with a full attendance of councilmen.

The matter of opening of the East Middle street alley was brought up by motion that the committee on same composed of President Trostle, Borough Attorney Wible and Councilman Butt be discharged. The motion carried.

Councilman Koch then made a motion to reconsider the action taken at a special meeting of the Town Council whereby an agreement between the Secretary of War and the town already concluded was repudiated. Mr. Koch stated that he had investigated the facts and had now changed his mind on the question. The motion was discussed at some length and other matters were interjected into the discussion. When a vote was reached the council was a tie. Councilmen Butt, Koch, Shealer and Tawney voting for a reconsideration and Councilmen Armor, Codori, Stock and Kitzmiller against, and President Trostle cast the deciding vote in favor of a reconsideration.

The original motion that the agreement between the Secretary of War and the Town Council be executed in a writing was then voted upon and was a tie vote, by the same votes as upon motion to reconsider and was decided by President Trostle by voting for the motion.

This action confirms the agreement already concluded with the Secretary of War, by which the government agrees to build five alleys in the eastern part of the town. The next step will be the location of the alleys, the acquiring of the land, the ordaining of them with the proper grades and these proceedings will give ample opportunity to all citizens in that part of the town to have the alleys located and built to the greatest advantage of the people.

A motion then carried that a committee of three be appointed to locate the alleys, and Councilmen Butt, Tawney and Shealer were named as the committee.

John D. Keith, Esq., appeared before council and asked for amendment to the ordinance granting a franchise for a trolley line on certain streets. The ordinance passed but granted the franchise so as to go to a

A motion then carried that a committee of three be appointed to locate the alleys, and Councilmen Butt, Tawney and Shealer were named as the committee.

John D. Keith, Esq., appeared before council and asked for amendment to the ordinance granting a franchise for a trolley line on certain streets. The ordinance passed but granted the franchise so as to go to a company to be hereafter chartered.

The amendment asked for would be that the franchise should go to a branch or extension of the McSherrystown and Hanover Railway Company. This was desired to avoid obtaining a new charter. Mr. Keith stated that no extension of time would be asked as it was expected to have the road completed within the time allowed by the ordinance, Sept. 1, 1911. Rights of way had been secured from Conewago Chapel to Gettysburg with exception of four or five landowners. The road to Conewago Chapel had already been built and would be pushed to Gettysburg rapidly next year. The council fixed Friday evening, Sept. 16, for a special meeting to consider the amendment asked for.

J. Donald Swope, Esq., appeared before council, asking the construction of sewer on Broadway, and was assigned work would be done at an early date.

The Light Committee was instructed to inspect the Tungsten lamps with Officer O'Riley.

Councilman Codori asked that the Burgess be directed to impose the maximum license fee on out-of-town fairs and matter was left with Borough Attorney Wible to take up with Burgess.

Dennis Twomey asked for action to secure pavement between his property and the High School building and notice was directed to be sent owner of lot to make pavement. Notice was also directed to be sent for the making of a pavement on north side of Water street east of Carlisle street.

A motion carried that proceedings be instituted for the opening of West Middle street and Buford avenue as ordered and for the assessing of damages and benefit.

A committee of three was authorized to be appointed to investigate the question of ordaining all streets and alleys to the borough limits and Councilmen Tawney, Armor and Shealer were named as the committee.

A motion to investigate into the matter of uniform curbs, etc., and report at a subsequent meeting passed and Councilmen Butt, Kitzmiller and Codori were named as the committee.

The condition of the alley north of the first square of York street was discussed with the suggestion of the Sewer Committee to put down a sewer branch in alley. After some discussion the matter was referred back to Sewer and Highway Committees for a report at the special meeting, Sept. 16.

Big Dedication.

The dedication of the Pennsylvania Triumphant Arch on Sept. 27 is to be distinctly a Pennsylvania event. There will be no speaker of national prominence. President Taft will not be here. No regular troops will be on the ground unless a battery of artillery is sent to fire a salute. Thirty-seven veterans of Post No. 2, G. A. R. of Philadelphia, will do police duty.

The exercises at the dedication will consist first of a salute of seventeen guns to the governor of the State, music by a band which has not yet been selected, prayer, an address by General Huidekoper turning over the monument to the State. The response will be delivered by Governor Stuart and then brief addresses will be made by Major General Latta representing the infantry, Major General Gregg, representing the cavalry, and Colonel Bruce Ricketts, representing the artillery, and Colonel Nicholson, chairman of the U. S. Gettysburg Commission, representing the United States. Major General Daniel Sickles and Major General Chamberlain, veterans of note will be present.

Single School Session in Sept.

The Board of School Directors held their regular meeting on last Thursday evening and the most important action of the evening was a motion that during the month of September the schools have but one session a day, from eight to twelve o'clock in the morning and no school in the afternoon. The warm weather, the coming big celebration during the month and other reasons led to the adoption of the motion.

Report was made to the Board that the fifty dozen individual drinking cups had been received and it was arranged that a distribution should be made on the following Monday. Every scholar will have his or her own cup, and some system will be devised of keeping them separate and the common cup will be done away with. Each school room has its own faucet from which water can be drawn and with the individual drinking cup, a distinct sanitary gain has been made. The cups can be bought by scholars at 5 cents each, and when not purchased, they will remain the property of the School Board.

Millinery Opening.

We are pleased to announce that fall styles will be displayed on Saturday, September 17th, 1910 and cordially invite you to attend this opening. Having spent several weeks in the different cities, we feel sure we can please you. We have also secured the services of an up to date milliner who has had much experience and will be glad to meet the people.

Respectfully,

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

OF ADAMS CO. HELD IN ABOTTSTOWN SEPT. 6 AND 7.

Sessions Were of Exceptional Interest, Helpful and Powerful.

The Eleventh Annual Convention of the Sabbath Schools of Adams County was held in Abottstown, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 6 and 7. Almost one hundred delegates, superintendents and pastors were in attendance.

Rev. John Jay Hill, county president, presided, and after the opening exercises made an excellent address on the "Relation of the Sabbath School to the General Church Work and Christian Life." Rev. Forsyth of Abottstown greeted the delegates in a few well chosen words. The reports of the county officers showed an advance along all lines except the total enrollment, which was due however, to lack of complete reports being received from the local schools.

The sessions on Wednesday were filled with good things for the teachers and workers present. Mrs. Maud Junkin Baldwin, the State Elementary Superintendent, gave a very practical and helpful talk on graded work with the children, beginning with the Cradle Roll, and including the Beginner's Class, Primary and Junior Departments. Mrs. Baldwin also held a conference for Junior and Primary Workers at 1 p. m., which was well attended.

Rev. C. A. Oliver of York, State Superintendent of the Teacher Training Work, was present and held a conference on that subject. Mr. W. G. Landes, State General Secretary, spoke on the various lines of work taken up by the Sabbath Schools and made a strong plea for increase along all lines, stating that this was to be the keynote at the State Convention to be held in Altoona in October and that Adams county was getting the word one month in advance, so that would give us a good start in this work.

Prof. C. A. Sanders of Gettysburg, gave a splendid address on "The Things Which Depend on the Superintendent," but as there were very few superintendents present he turned the talk to very helpful lines for all workers.

Rev. D. W. Woods, of Gettysburg, spoke on the "Duties and Responsibilities of the Delegates," showing how many helpful things may be brought home to the schools by those in attendance at such a convention.

Rev. W. H. Miller of East Berlin, gave a very helpful address on the subject, "Know Thy Text-book."

The evening sessions were overflowing with good things. On Tuesday evening Rev. J. Bradley Markward of Harrisburg spoke on the subject of the "Teacher Problem," and Mr. P. A. Elbesser of York, gave an address on the "Organized Bible Class in the School."

Wednesday evening Rev. J. B. Baker of Gettysburg, gave a splendid address on the subject, "Variety and Monotony," and Mr. W. G. Landes spoke on "Power."

The singing at both the day and evening sessions was unusually good. Mr. L. L. Taylor of Gettysburg was the Musical Director for the convention, and with his choir of trained voices led the singing which was joined in by almost every one present in the large audience.

The following officers were elected at the business session: President, Rev. John Jay Hill; Vice President, Rev. A. C. Forsyth; Treasurer, Mr. H. T. Weaver; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Lilly Dougherty; Recording Secretary, Margaret Sherrick; Superintendent of Home Department, Rev. Chas. Dalzell; Superintendent of Teacher Training Work, Prof. C. F. Sanders; Primary Superintendent, Mrs. Eva Mickle; Superintendent of Organized Bible Class Work, Mr. Harry E. Bair.

According to the standard adopted by the county this year there are four front line schools in the county: Christ Lutheran, St. James' Lutheran, and Memorial U. B. Gettysburg, and Trinity Lutheran, Arendtsville. A number of other schools have made pledges to organize departments which will also place them in this front rank. The aim of the county this year has been to receive a place in the State "Front Line." At the opening of the convention there were not enough thoroughly organized schools to make this possible but pledges were received which, if carried into effect before October 1st, will put Adams county in the "Front Line."

Harvey was selected as the place for holding the 1911 convention, being a part of the Mt. Joy Lutheran charge.

The following resolutions were adopted by the convention:

Whereas, It is the sense of the delegates and visitors in session assembled at Abottstown, Pa., that this 11th Annual Convention of the Adams County Sabbath School Association has been one of exceptional interest, helpfulness and power. Therefore be it Resolved, That we express our sense of grateful appreciation to the pastors and people of Abottstown and vicinity for the loving, hospitable, self-sacrificing welcome to their hearts and homes and churches; to Mr. L. L. Taylor for his magnetic, masterly leadership in sacred song; to the local singers for their much appreciated special music; to the State workers, visiting brethren, and county residents who participated in the program for their very instructive and inspiring messages; to Mr. L. M. Alleman for his generous thoughtfulness in providing the beautiful convention badges; to the president and corresponding secretary and other county officers of our association for their year of faithful service in our behalf. And be it also resolved that we go home each determined to make a faithful effort to introduce into his own school some of the splendid suggestions made to this convention and that we all pledge ourselves to do everything that in our power lies to help to bring Adams county into a "Front Line" position.

Resolved, That the corresponding secretary be instructed to submit copies of these resolutions to the various county papers for publication.

Collecting Tents.

Major L. V. Rausch, Department Quartermaster of the N. G. P., with the help of several members of the State Constabulary, have been making a collection of the N. G. P. tents that did not get back to the State arsenal, and in the tents collected have been found a number from encampments two, four, six and even more years ago.

Many of these tents have been acquired by our people in ways entirely proper. Tents were loaned by the authorities and in a number of cases the return of them were overlooked. But tents have come into the possession of our people in many other ways guards have sold them, or given them, and it is alleged that there were those who helped themselves without leave or license to tents.

Major Rausch realizing that many of the tents were secured in legitimate ways has been locating the same and sending word to those having them, if they were returned no action would be taken. Different camps along the creeks have been visited by Major Rausch and his men and a number of N. G. P. tents so marked, were claimed and removed. Many of the missing tents have been secured and it is expected that the greater part will be returned. When it became known that the tents would be wanted a number were found in fields on the camp ground.

Two Burglaries.

On last Thursday morning the home of George Stoner near Springs Dam, was broken into and clothing, tools, watches, watch chain, rings, pins, rifle, powder and shells, razor, fountain pen and glasses, were taken away as well as eatables. Mr. Stoner was at work at the brick plant and Mrs. Stoner had come to town and there was no one at home. Entrance to the house was gained by prying open a window with a chisel. No trace of the burglars has yet been discovered.

On Saturday night the barber shop of Charles E. Barbehn in the basement of the Eagle Hotel was entered through a window on Washington St. A pane of glass in window had been broken several days before and burglar lowered the top sash and crawled in window. He broke open the three money drawers and secured about $50 in money. The discovery of the burglary was not made until Sunday morning. There are reasons to believe the man was well acquainted with the shop and it is expected that an early arrest will be made, as there seems to be well founded reasons pointing toward the guilty party.

L. M. Buehler's Success.

L. M. Buehler the enterprising druggist rather than await the ordinary methods of introduction, urged the Dr. Howard Co. to secure a quick sale for their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by offering the regular 50c bottle at half price.

In addition to selling a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's specific for 25c L. M. Buehler has so much faith in the remedy that he will refund the money to anyone whom it does not cure.

When your head aches, your stomach does not digest food easily and naturally when there is constipation, specks before the eyes, tired feeling, sickness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, heart burn, sour stomach, roaring or ringing in the ears, melancholy and liver troubles Dr. Howard's specific will cure you.

Church Notice.

The communion service which was to have been held last Sabbath in the Great Conewago Presbyterian church was postponed until next Sabbath morning. Preaching at York Springs church in the afternoon at 2.30.

A Little Bunch of "Daisies"

Four charming young ladies all walking abreast, strolled down Euclid avenue, stylishly dressed; and they looked neither left, nor they looked to the right, while each masculine eye followed them out of sight. And as briskly they stepped on their way down the street, they said many things, one of which we'll repeat. That was: "That Chi-Namel at house-cleaning time, helped the ladies to keep all their homes looking fine." Those who have used Chi-Namel once will never accept other varnish. The first brushful convinces them it is different. It flows out so smooth—requires so little brushing—and best of all, stands the hard knocks so well. Stains and varnishes at one application. All colors at our store. Sold by J. H. Colliflower.

DEATH OF AGED CITIZEN

MRS. CHARLOTTE E. PICKING DIED IN HER 90TH YEAR.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Reinecker,
Mother of Ten Children—Other
Deaths of Week.

Mrs. CHARLOTTE E. PICKING, widow of the late Henry A. Picking, and one of the oldest citizens of the town died on last Saturday evening at 10 o'clock at the advanced age of 89 years, 7 months and 6 days. Mrs. Picking had been in feeble health for many years, the last illness however covered a period of about two weeks. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Walter and was born on the Walter homestead north of town and after her marriage to Mr. Picking lived many years in Straban township. She was a member of the College Lutheran church. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, services by Rev. Henry Austadt and interment in the Evergreen cemetery. She leaves one son and two daughters, Harry C. Picking and Miss Alice Picking of this place, and Mrs. A. H. F. Fischer of Easton, Pa.

Mrs. ANNA MARY VIRGINIA REINECKER, widow of the late Samuel Reinecker, died in Butler township on Tuesday of last week, aged 52 years and 7 months. She was ill but ten days and cause of death was a paralytic stroke. Her maiden name was Cashman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Cashman of Gettysburg. Her mother is now Mrs. John Williams of this place. Her husband died suddenly last year. The funeral on last Thursday was conducted by Rev. T. C. Hesson of Arendtsville, the deceased being a member of the Reformed church of that place and interment being made in the Evergreen cemetery. She leaves ten children, Mervin Reinecker of Hagerstown, Miss Lillie Reinecker of Philadelphia, Mrs. Marshall Eck and Meely Reinecker of Gettysburg, Mary, Clarence, Grace, Ruth, Paxton, and Charles at home. She is survived by one brother, Frank Cashman of Hanover, and also by five step sisters and one step brother, Mrs. Edward Relling, Mrs. Wm. Eden, Mrs. George Taylor, Misses Alice and Ada Williams, and Albert Williams.

JOHN DECKER, the well known merchant of Hunterstown, died on Monday evening of last week aged 54 yrs. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Decker, and for over twenty years had conducted a store in Hunterstown. The funeral was held on last Wednesday, services by Rev. Fred Gowler, interment in the Presbyterian cemetery at Hunterstown. He leaves a widow and three sons, Albert Decker of Waynesboro, Howard and Floyd at home. A sister and four brothers survive, Mrs. Sarah Lee and Charles Decker of Hunterstown, Henry, Peter and George Decker of Bowdler.

Rev. DR. STEPHEN M. WHESTER, pastor of the St. Lawrence German Catholic Church of Harrisburg for the past 19 years, and well known in this county, died on Monday, Sept. 5, in Brookton. In September of last year he was attacked by pneumonia and has been in failing health since that time.

Miss RACHAEL C. GULDEN died at home of Philip Weaver, Straban township, on last Thursday, aged 53 years, 5 months and 23 days. She had lived with the Weaver family for the past 32 years. The funeral was held on last Saturday, services by Rev. E. E. Dietterick, interment at Goodyear. She was born near Goodyear and is survived by her father, John M. Gulden and a brother of that place and a sister, Mrs. John Wagner of York.

EMMA MILLER, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paul Miller of New Oxford, died on last Wednesday from brain fever and spasms, aged 7 months and 28 days. Funeral on last Friday, interment in the New Oxford cemetery.

HARRY LUTHER HEAGY, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heagy of York street, died on last Tuesday afternoon, aged 24 days. Funeral on Thursday, services by Rev. G. W. Sherrick, interment in Evergreen cemetery.

JOHN A. SHULLEY of Emporia, Kan., died Aug. 21, in his 50th year. He was born in Fairfield and lived there until his removal to Kansas in 1878. He was a plumber by occupation and worked at the trade until a year ago when his health began to fail. He leaves a widow, one daughter and three sons, all of Emporia. He is survived by two brothers and one sister, Frederick Shulley, David Shulley and Mrs. Shetter, all of Fairfield.

Mrs. SUMMERFIELD STULLER of Cumberland township, died at her home on the Emmitsburg road last Wednesday morning, aged 89 years. She leaves besides her husband three children, William Jerre and an infant child. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hocker.

JOHN SMITH, the ditcher, died last week with his boots on at the work at which he excelled, digging ditches. He had been employed by Jacob Schindel at ditch digging on his farm near Hanover. He was seen as usual at breakfast but was missing at dinner. A search was made for him and he was found in a ditch he had been digging dead. John Smith, the ditcher, was known from one end of this county to the other end. He had been digging ditches all his life and he was in a class by himself. He would not dig ditches by the day, but by the yard and he would simply make the ditch and made good money. He had as beautiful an Irish brogue as ever came out of the mouth of a native of the Emerald Island, but into that same mouth went his worst enemy, for he was addicted to heavy drinking. Although in his 84th year he was alert and powerful and enjoyed good health until the time of his death. Exposure had no effect on his rugged constitution or perhaps it was the exposure that made and kept him strong. On one occasion it is said he lay out blind drunk in a pouring rain of two nights and one day and did not take cold. His drinking was of the incessant sort and had been so for over 60 years and much of it he worked off in the hard labor in the ditches. Periodically between ditch digging contracts he turned up in town and became noisy, but when John was not deep in his cups he had that peculiar attractive something about him which distinguishes the full blood Irishman.

ROBERT C. KEFFER, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred Keffer of McSherrystown, died last Saturday aged 8 months. Interment on Sunday in St. Mary's cemetery.

Father Corby Monument.

It is expected that the monument to be erected to the memory of Father Corby near the Wheatfield of the battlefield, will be ready the latter part of October and that the unveiling ceremony will be held at that time or early in November.

The movement to erect the monument was started in Philadelphia about a year ago by the late General St. Clair Mulholland and the money has been quickly raised. The statue will cost about $5000 and more than $4000 has already been subscribed. An effort is being made to complete the fund at once.

The memorial is now being modeled by Samuel A. Murray of Philadelphia. It is of heroic size, representing the brave priest in the act of granting absolution.

Father Corby will be represented in the uniform of his rank of Captain of cavalry and will be placed on the rock on which he stood and gave the general absolution to the Irish Brigade before entering the whirlpool of the fight at the Wheatfield.

The design has been approved by the War Department. It will contain the following inscription: "To the memory of Rev. William Corby, C. S. C., Chaplain Eighty-eighth Regiment, New York Infantry, Second Brigade, First Division, Second Corps, The Irish Brigade, July 2, 1863."

Surviving members of the Irish Brigade and of the One Hundred and Sixteenth Pa. Infantry, commanded on that memorable day by General Mulholland, will be there as invited guests.

Father Corby was born in Detroit, October 2, 1831, and entered the Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana, when 19 years old. In 1861 he resigned as prefect of discipline of the university and enlisted as chaplain in the Eighty-eighth New York Volunteers, of the Irish Brigade, camped at Alexandria, Virginia. He followed the fortunes of the brigade for three years and in the numerous battles in which it took part he carried consolation to the afflicted and gave the rites of his church to those in spiritual need and often when conflicts were fiercest.

Paris Fashions for Americans.

The American woman has now reached the pass where she never buries her outfit for the season without first being sure what Paris has decided upon as the fashionable thing.

Following its usual custom, inaugurated several years ago, The North American will, on Sunday, September 18, issue its special Paris fashion number, it being an eight-page section in connection with its regular Sunday paper.

The styles represent the very latest in Paris dressmaking art. The designs printed were chosen from the best showings of the representative makers of fashionable garments. After seeing them the woman can form her own idea and make her own choice of the American goods that are offered. She can make sure that she is getting up-to-date garments. There is always a big demand for The North American's special fashion numbers. It is advisable to order of the agent or newsdealer well in advance.

Railroad Section Hand Killed.

Samuel Kaltridge, of Hanover, was killed on Tuesday of last week near Hanover. He was employed as a section hand for a number of years, under foreman William Tucker. The trackmen were working at the East End, near Hanover, when the fatal accident occurred. Passenger train No. 43, due there at 9:40, in charge of Conductor George Maurath and Engineer Hiram Eichelberger, arrived on schedule time. As the train approached the usual signal was given by the engineer and all the employees but Mr. Kaltridge got off the track. He doubtless became confused and was struck on the back of his head by the engine, causing instant death. His body fell on the track and his left foot was also cut off near the ankle. Conductor Maurath stopped the train, and the unfortunate man was placed in the baggage car and conveyed to Union depot. The deceased was about 35 years old, and is survived by his wife and one son.

BUCHANAN VALLEY.

Mrs. John F. Cole reported a tomato raised in her garden that weighed 2 1-2 pounds.

Samuel L. Irwin was the first farmer to make cider at Kimple's press this year.

Those on the sick list, Mrs. Emma Dillon, Mrs. Margaret Swain, Clara and Winifred Irwin, and little child of Leo McKendrick.

A class of 45 will receive the sacrament of confirmation on Sunday, Sept. 17, in the afternoon. Bishop Shanahan will administer the sacrament of confirmation.

Francis Kimple intends having another story added to his kitchen this week.

Dr. Albert Cromer of Cashtown was in the valley on Saturday on his new motorcycle.

Mrs. John F. Cole spent a few weeks in Cashtown recently.

Miss Mary Keuhn of York, visited her mother and father and brother in Cashtown, and Miss Edith Cole of the Narrows recently.

A. W. Cole and wife and Paul Martin and wife went to the "Big Flat" from here last Wednesday, and brought home some fine peaches. S.C.S.

Sven Hedin's Experience.

Dr. Sven Hedin, the famous traveler and explorer, had some terrible experiences during a journey through Tib-bet. He told how, owing to the high altitude at which he and his party traveled, that to unbutton one's coat meant acute pain and tension to an overwrought heart, which literally was at the point of breaking. His only safety lay in the fact that he never left the saddle for a single moment from morning till evening. Had he done so his heart would have given way. At one time they were nine days without water and when at last he saw a small pool of water he drank five glasses without stopping.

The Gift.

"Accused of being a miser," exclaimed the man, "you are the very man who was leaving at my door today."
"Yes," assented the visitor, with a sweet, hardy grin, "but you didn't give me anything."
"Well, I'll give you something now—fourteen days!"

And He Did.

"I believe you are all right," said the young man who was about to officiate as the bridegroom.
"All right, I will join you in a mo-

GRANDSON OF OLD ADAMS

WHO CONCEIVED THE GREATEST BUILDING IN THE WORLD

Ever Built in the Same Space of Time—Seven Years—the New York Terminal.

The greatest terminal on the face of the earth—the New York Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad—was thrown open for traffic on last Thursday, September 8. In the great building stands a statue of the man to whom the conception, design and execution of the project are mainly due and this man is a grandson of Old Adams, Alexander Johnson Cassatt, grandson of Dennis Cassatt, who sleeps in the Low Dutch graveyard in Stabon.

The story is told that one day about ten years ago Alexander J. Cassatt, who had recently been graduated from general manager to president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, stood before a map of the company's system, his glasses resting on the easterly terminus in Jersey City. With him was Colonel Charles W. Raymond, the distinguished engineer, to whom the Pennsylvania's president said, as he jabbed a blunt forefinger into the spot marked Manhattan Island:

"Raymond, I have never been able to reconcile myself to the idea that a railroad system like the Pennsylvania should be prevented from entering the most important and most populous city in the country by a river less than a mile wide."

Today the New York station of the Pennsylvania Railroad stands a monument to the genius, courage and ability of the late Alexander J. Cassatt, and silent testimony to the wealth and enterprise of the great railroad. After seven years of tunneling the tubes that connect New York City by rail with New Jersey and with Long Island cities have also been finished.

One hundred million dollars were required to build this station and bore these tubes. In full running order, the entire improvement was thrown open to traffic on September 8. The station covers more territory than any other building ever constructed at one time in the history of the world. The Vatican, the Tuileries, the St. Petersburg Winter Palace are larger buildings but centuries were required in their construction. The Pennsylvania station is unique covering as it does eight acres of ground with exterior walls extending approximately one-half a mile and having been erected in less than six years' time.

This station is not only the largest structure of its kind in the world, but it epitomizes and embodies the highest development of the art of transportation. Every practicable convenience, the most ingenious of mechanical and electrical inventions, every safeguard against danger—all, in fact, that has so far been learned in railway transportation and station perfection has been availed of for the benefit of every passenger, no matter whether he is to take a short ride to Long Island or a 2000-mile trip to the West.

Built after the Doric style of architecture, the station covers the entire area bounded by Seventh and Eighth avenues and 31st and 33rd streets. The facades of the station are designed to suggest the imposing character of the ancient Roman temples and baths, at the same time giving the building the character of a monumental gateway and entrance to the great city.

The structure is really a monumental bridge over the tracks, with entrances to the streets on the main axis and on all four sides. In this respect the building is unique among the railway stations of the world, affording the maximum of entrance and exit facilities.

The Seventh avenue facade is composed principally of a Roman Doric colonnade, double at the carriage entrances at the street ends and at the main front entrance for pedestrians in the center. Each of the columns is 4 feet 6 inches in diameter and 35 feet high. Above the central colonnade is an entablature surmounted by a clock with a dial 7 feet in diameter. The center of this clock is on the axial line of 32nd street and 61 feet above the sidewalk.

This Seventh avenue facade was conceived especially to symbolize in most imposing fashion a traffic gateway. It may be compared, with due allowance for its massive proportions, to the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin through which passes so much of the traffic of that city.

The central entrance on Seventh avenue leads to the main waiting room through an arcade 225 feet long by 45 feet wide, flanked on both sides by shops. At the farther end of the arcade are the restaurants, lunch rooms and cafe and beyond are the general waiting room and concourse, the latter being on the first level below the street.

The main body of the building approximates in height the Bourse of Paris, reaching 70 feet above the street level. With entrances through the two corners of the station on Seventh avenue there are carriage drives, each about 60 feet wide, or almost twice the width of a standard New York street, created by double columns and pediments. The narrowest opening between the columns is equal in width to the arched driveways in the Louvre, through which the omnibuses of Paris pass. The frontage is the same on 31st and 33rd streets. The walls of the exterior of the carriage drives are of pillar treatment for a distance of 270 feet.

The dignified design of the interior of the waiting room, while fully adapted to modern ideas, was suggested by the great halls and basilicas of Rome such as the baths of Caracalla, Titus, and Diocletian, and the basilica of Constantine, which are perhaps the greatest examples in history of magnificent interior spaces treated in a monumental manner.

The main waiting room on the concourse level is the largest in the world. Within its walls are located the ticket office, baggage-checking windows and telephone and telegraph offices.

The Roman Travertine used in the arcade and general waiting room of the station for the walls, and for all columns, pilasters and stairways, comes from the quarries in the Roman Campagna, near Tivoli, Italy. It is the stone of which Imperial and modern Rome is principally built, these quarries having supplied the major part of the building stone of Rome for many centuries.

Notable examples of its use are the Coliseum and St. Peter's Cathedral. It was imported into this country for the first time by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for use in the Pennsylvania station in New York.

Travertine stone was used in the construction of the station for the reason that while it is very hard and durable, it has an openness of texture which makes it particularly suitable for use in areas of such unusual dimensions as the Pennsylvania station, giving a character and distinction to the surface which could not be obtained with a stone of more uniform appearance.

Moreover the stone tends to take a polish when rubbed up against rather than absorb dirt, which makes it very practical for public station uses.

Its warm, sunny, yellow color is pleasing, and in this respect it is distinctly superior to almost any of the stones available in the North American Continent, which are as a rule, of a cold gray color.

The maximum capacity in trains per hour of all of the Pennsylvania tunnels is 144, and the proposed initial daily service will consist of about 600 Long Island railroad trains and 400 Pennsylvania trains.

The construction of the Pennsylvania railroad tunnels under the North and East Rivers into New York and New Jersey, attaining a maximum depth of 97 feet below mean high water, and built for a heavy and high-speed traffic of great volume, was an undertaking without precedent.

No project was ever carried out where emphasis was placed entirely upon the results—strength, safety, permanency—rather than upon the money it cost to attain them.

Colonel Raymond, dean of the staff of the engineers, in concluding a general review of the work for the American Society of Engineers, expressed himself in the following words:

"The writer desires to pay a tribute of admiration and respect to the memory of the late A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, to whom the conception, design and execution of the project are mainly due. His education and experience as a civil engineer, his thorough knowledge of all the details of railroad construction, operation and management, gained by long and varied service, the directness, clearness and strength of his mind, and his great executive ability, placed him at the head of the railroad men of the country. In the consideration of any great problem, whether of transportation, commerce or political economy, he was almost unequalled, owing to the breadth of originality, and decisiveness of his character; yet his manner to his subordinates was so direct and simple that he seemed unconscious of his own superiority."

"Great as it was, the New York plan of improvement is only one item in a far-reaching scheme of development, which became the policy of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company through Mr. Cassatt's advice and influence, yet his strongest influence was doubtless centered in the New York work. It is the sincerest regret of all connected with the design and execution of the project that he did not live to see its completion."

Every Adams county citizen who visits New York City should take great pride in beholding the wonderful accomplishment of terminal and tubes and should begin and end the pleasure of the trip under the statue of Alexander Johnson Cassatt in the great Pennsylvania terminal, looking up into the strong, quiet face of the man who refused to let any river less than a mile wide keep his railroad out of New York.

Saloon-Keepers to Pay Damages.

By awarding damages to William Cody, to be paid by Saloonkeeper Timothy Sullivan, of Westmoreland county, the Pennsylvania courts have once more called public attention to a feature of the liquor laws which, although seldom invoked, stands upon the statute books to protect persons of known intemperate habits from saloonkeepers who sell them liquor.

It does not seem to be generally known that the law provides that such a person who sustains injury as the result of the saloonkeeper's violation of the statutes is entitled to collect damages. In the Westmoreland county case Cody was a person of intemperate habits, who asserted that Sullivan sold him liquor knowing him to be habitually intemperate, and that his liquor reduced him to a condition of helpless intoxication.

While in this condition Cody lay in a cold stable all night, and his feet were frozen. The jury in common pleas court of Westmoreland county gave him $500 damage against Sullivan, the saloonkeeper.

This case was brought under the Pennsylvania act of May 8, 1854, P. L. 963, under which a few other cases have also been brought, though not as many, possibly, as if more people had been aware of its existence. Section 1 of this act makes it a misdemeanor to wilfully furnish intoxicating drinks by sale, gift or otherwise to any person of known intemperate habits. . . . for use as a beverage. And Section 3 provides that "any person furnishing intoxicating drinks to any other person, in violation of any existing law or provision of this act shall be held civilly responsible for any injury to person or property in consequence of such furnishing, and any one aggrieved may recover full damages against such person so furnishing."

Under the same act, as well as under the act of April 22, 1875, P. L. 40, the relatives of a habitual inebriate may also recover damages against the saloonkeeper who unlawfully sells him liquor, provided any damage ensues as the result of the sale.

M. R. Snyder bought the D. D. Hesson property at Harney at public sale for $605, not half the cost of the buildings it is said.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Gettysburg Citizens Have Discovered it.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Gettysburg citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

Mrs. Frank Tawney, 28 Breckinridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family with excellent results. I publicly endorsed them two years ago and hold just as high an opinion of them at this time. A member of my family was afflicted with kidney trouble for years and probably inherited it. This person suffered a great deal from pains in his back and sides and was unable to control the kidney secretions. A cold always aggravated the complaint. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box at the Peoples Drug Store and their use effected a complete cure."

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Number One. A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to section twenty-six of article five of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the following amendment to section twenty-six of article five of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section 26 of Article V., which reads as follows: "Section 26. All laws relating to courts shall be general and of uniform operation, and the organization, jurisdiction, and powers of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the process and judgments of such courts, shall be uniform; and the General Assembly is hereby prohibited from creating other courts to exercise the powers vested by this Constitution in the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts," be amended so that the same shall read as follows:—

Section 26. All laws relating to courts shall be general and of uniform operation, and the organization, jurisdiction, and powers of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the process and judgments of such courts, shall be uniform; but, notwithstanding any provisions of this Constitution, the General Assembly shall have full power to establish new courts, from time to time, as the same may be needed in any city or county, and to prescribe the powers and jurisdiction thereof, and to increase the number of judges in any courts now existing or hereafter created, or to reorganize the same, or to vest in other courts the jurisdiction theretofore exercised by courts not of record, and to abolish the same wherever it may be deemed necessary for the orderly and efficient administration of justice.

A true copy of Resolution No. 1. ROBERT MCAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Number Two. RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to eliminate the requirement of payment of taxes as a qualification of the right to vote. Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur). That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section one of article eight be amended, by striking out the fourth numbered paragraph thereof, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 1. Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections, subject however to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact. First. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

Second. He shall have resided in the State one year (or, if, having previously been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the State, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months), immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

A true copy of Resolution No. 2. ROBERT MCAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Number Three. A JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 5. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and coordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

A true copy of Resolution No. 3. ROBERT MCAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Number Four. A JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight. Section 2. Amend section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted; provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system.

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who can't get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

A BUNCH OF VIOLETS

By CLARISSA MACKIE

It was one of those uptown cross streets whose dividing line is Broadway. No. 87, west, was one of many handsome stone dwellings, while No. 87, east, was merely a shabby boarding house given over to the accommodation of working girls.

Esther Mason wearily climbed the stairs of No. 87 east and paused as Mrs. Beggs' shrill voice called her name from the hall below.

"Here's something for you—a boy left it a few minutes ago—flowers, I guess! Suppose your beau sent 'em," said the boarding house mistress, as Esther descended the stairs.

The girl's face flushed as she took the square box and examined the address on the violet and gold cover. "Miss Esther Mason, No. 87 East—sixth street." Surely it must be for her, and yet—who would send her a box of flowers on her birthday? Save for the few persons in the office where she was employed, she had scarcely an acquaintance in New York—and as for the home people? Esther swallowed a little sob and with a murmured word of thanks to Mrs. Beggs she ran lightly up the stairs to her little room and tossed the box on her narrow bed.

When she had removed her outdoor things she bathed her face and brushed her dusky hair into satin smoothness before she sat down on a low chair and took the box in her hands.

This was her birthday and she alone knew it. It was a strange coincidence that some one—some new-found friend should send her some flowers on that day.

She lifted the cover and gazed with delight upon an immense bunch of violets. Their fragrance filled the tiny room and Esther felt a certain sense of luxury in their possession.

But now! She bent over and sniffed ecstatically at the blossoms before she lifted them from the silver paper and searched for a card. There was nothing.

Still mystified and yet with a feeling of relief that she might not be obliged to return the gift to some unrecognized donor, she arose with the quick decision that was characteristic of her and changed her gown for the pretty pale gray that was her best.

When the large gray hat with its single long, gray feather was perched on her pretty head and the fragrant violets were pinned at her waist, Esther ran down the stairs and knocked at the door of Mrs. Beggs' sitting-room.

"I am going out to dinner, Mrs. Beggs," she called, softly, and then, before the older woman could frame a question, the girl had closed the front door behind her slender form and was speeding down the street toward the avenue.

It was after six o'clock and the streets and shops were brilliantly lighted. Esther hummed a little song as she turned into Fifth avenue and made her way toward a large and fashionable hotel.

She knew all about this hotel—rich and fashionable people dined there every night. This was her birthday and she was alone. She would treat herself to the luxury of a perfectly cooked dinner, and while she listened to the music she might see all these great people whose gay doings filled much space in the newspapers.

Ten minutes later she was seated in a quiet corner of the immense restaurant with hundreds of tables glittering with silver and cut glass and softened by pink shaded candles, spread before her like a scene on the stage.

As she ate the delicious meat, the payment for which would drain her purse to the bottom, her beautiful eyes took in the varied charm of the scene. The handsome gowns of the women; the quiet, well-bred air of the men; the lovely girls, most of them her own age, to whom this dinner was a common occurrence.

At the next table to Esther's sat an elderly woman, gowned in soft, black lace, with a jeweled butterfly quivering above her snow white hair. With her was a tall young man with serious gray eyes and handsome face bent above the menu card. In the pauses of the music their conversation floated in snatches to the young girl at her solitary table.

"You are not wearing my violets, Aunt Esther," said the young man, after a while. "You said you wanted violets."

"I haven't received them, Dick," returned his companion; "I supposed you had forgotten them or that you would stop for them on the way to the theater."

"They were ordered—let me see, I bought them in a little shop just off the avenue—some German name, Reinz, I believe—he said he would send them over immediately. Some mistake, I suppose, for I distinctly told him they were for Miss Esther Mason, 87 West—sixth street." The young man lifted his eyes and encountered the gaze of a pair of startled brown ones, whose like he had never seen before.

In wondering delight he noted the brown of the eyes and the distinct black of the curling lashes and delicately marked brows. His glance fell to the exquisite face beneath the gray-plumed hat and he caught his breath sharply.

"What is the matter, dear?" asked his aunt, anxiously.

"Nothing—just a twinge," he evaded, quickly.

"Gout?" Her tone was playful.

"No—heart," he said, grimly.

Esther, watching them with fluttering heart, touched the bunch of cool violets at her waist with trembling fingers. She had heard the conversation about the violets and understood. The name on the florist's box had been "Reinz," and there was another "Miss Esther Mason" for whom the blossoms had been purchased. A stupid shopman and the mere difference of east and west—and a singular coincidence of names—had completed the tangle.

The violets were not hers. They belonged to that beautifully gowned woman at the next table, who was drawing on her white gloves and preparing for her departure.

Esther paid the waiter and slipped into her loose, gray cloak. With a graceful movement she crossed to the next table and bent over her astonished namesake.

"I must ask your pardon," said Esther, composedly, "but I could not help overhearing your conversation about the violets. My name is Esther Mason and I live at 87 East—sixth street. To-night I received this beautiful bunch of violets, and as there was no card—why I just thought they came because it was my birthday. It did not occur to me there might have been a mistake—the address was so plain on the box."

As she spoke, Esther unpinned the flowers and laid them on the table beside Miss Mason, but the older woman thrust them back into her hands.

"No, no, my dear, you must keep them; it is your birthday—and I am very glad that you have them." She smiled sweetly at the lovely young face bent above her own and as she looked, a puzzled expression came into her eyes. She flashed a quick glance toward the table where the girl had been sitting, and then added: "You are alone—here—to-night? Perhaps your friends are waiting for you."

Esther flushed and drew back. "I am all alone," she said, with dignity. "I came here to dine this evening because it was my birthday and I wanted a treat—the violets tempted me—they seemed to lure me into spending one delightfully luxurious evening. If you will not take the violets, Miss Mason, let me thank you for them and say good night."

She turned away with a slight inclination of her head, but the older woman detained her.

"Wait a moment, please. You did not understand me, my dear. I asked about your friends because I thought I might recognize among them one whom I knew—your face is so familiar—it is very like—someone I knew." Miss Mason's own face was pale now, and her dark eyes shone strangely.

Esther hesitated an instant, then her firm, white chin went up never so slightly. "I am sure you cannot have known my people, Miss Mason. You see, No. 87 East is a boarding house and I am merely a working girl. My people are all dead." Her lips quivered slightly, and Dick Redmond suddenly dropped his eyes from her face and twisted his dinner card viciously.

Miss Mason leaned back a little wearily and dropped the girl's hand. "I am very sorry," she said, gently; "but I was sure—you look so like Tom Mason; he was my cousin."

"My father's name was Tom Mason—Tom Henry Mason, they called him," said Esther, quietly. "You see we are Maryland people. They are all dead—everyone save some distant cousins whom I have never seen."

Miss Mason arose quickly and slipped her arm around Esther's waist. "My dear girl," she half sobbed, "Tom Henry Mason was my cousin—on the other side of the house, Dick—and I really believe you were named for me. There was a misunderstanding between us which was never cleared up. Oh, you must come with us now; let me introduce my nephew, Dick Redmond—my cousin, Esther Mason, Dick. Is it not delightful that you made the mistake about the violets?"

Dick's hand closed around Esther's and his gray eyes sought hers eagerly; perhaps they both thought the mistake about the violets was a delightful occurrence. They said nothing beyond the conventional words of greeting.

"We are on our way to the theater," explained Miss Mason, as they passed into the lobby and made their way to the street, where a handsome carriage waited at the curb. "You must come with us—it is your birthday, you know, and between the acts I will ask you about all your home people and we will lay plans for the future. After the play is over, Dick and I will drop you at 87 East—I am already laying plans to carry you off to 87 West, Esther—I am very lonely."

Dick, following them into the carriage, mentally decided that he, too, was very lonely and that he would make it his business to relieve his solitary condition at the earliest opportunity.

Perhaps he felt a bit encouraged when, as he left Esther at the open door of No. 87 East, he asked her for some of the violets.

"I could not," said the girl, quickly, clasping the bunch with eager hands. "You see they mean so much to me—see what they have brought me to-night!" She waved her hand to Miss Mason in the carriage below and then placed it in Redmond's outstretched palm.

He looked at her from grave eyes. "The violets mean so much to me—now—I would like just one," he said. With downcast face Esther pulled out a little bunch of her precious blossoms and gave them into his hand. Then, with a little murmured word of farewell, she disappeared within the door of No. 87 East.

But the look in her eyes as she drew up the long stairs matched the look in Dick Redmond's eyes as he rejoined his aunt.

A SON OF OLD ADAMS MAKES GOOD IN THE WEST AND IS MAYOR OF HIS CITY.

The Story of How Solomon P. Hartman Arose to the Foremost Position in Ottumwa, Iowa.

A native of Adams county was recently honored by being appointed Mayor of Ottumwa, Iowa, a city with a population of about twenty-five thousand. The man to receive this honor was Solomon P. Hartman, who was born in Franklin township, and grew to manhood there. He was a brother of the late Noah W. Hartman, and Mrs. P. D. W. Hankey of Gettysburg. This city has been deep in the mire over its mayoralty. The occupant elected at the last election at which the mayor was chosen, was found guilty by the courts of certain charges which had been preferred against him and when he was ousted the court turned to Solomon P. Hartman as the man to run the city and correct the abuses complained of as to the office.

The "Ottumwa Review" noting the appointment of Mayor Hartman in part says: With few if any exceptions no Ottumwan holds acquaintance with a larger number of our people than Mayor S. P. Hartman. There is an interesting story in the career of the new chief executive, dating from his birth back at the famous Gettysburg, Pa., in April, 1855. Born on the farm he entered the rural schools and later took up a normal course, finally graduating into the teacher's profession in the Keystone State.

In 1875, when Sol was 20 years of age, he came to Ottumwa and for a time was employed on the farm in the summer and taught school in the winter. Then he tried out his talent in the mountain states and finally returned to this city and for four years sold nursery supplies over the state. He made good as a salesman and in 1882 he founded the Hartman nursery at Creston where he prospered immensely. In the early 90's having decided on Ottumwa for his future home in the winter of '99 he determined to develop a nursery here and laid well his plans. Today he is a prominent grower of things that make up orchards and shrubbery ornaments, etc., is the owner of a fine 40 acre orchard three miles south of the city, has a delightful home in Ottumwa that he built, and is a leading horticulturist and farmer in every way. And he takes great pride in the business which he represents—duties of a public character and service.

Of recent years, the past fifteen at least, Mr. Hartman has been conspicuous for his public spirit and also remarked for the ability he has demonstrated in the discharge of public obligations voted him. We find him first as city assessor for three years, and was praised for the exceptionally thorough and capable manner in which the report of assessments was made. It was in this capacity that the first line was had on his excellent business judgment and general competency.

When the Carnegie library was established in Ottumwa he became by appointment along with eight others, the first library board. Recognizing his talent for putting up a neat report and using system in all that he did, the board designated him its secretary a position he has held for the past ten years as well as acting as one of the trustees to the extent of the power the office provided.

Naturally, Mr. Hartman became recognized as invaluable on the library board and along the same line of usefulness he was induced to make the race for a membership in the school board of Ottumwa, which is a very important body, too, in the way of disbursing public funds. On this board he also has demonstrated rare ability and during his six years' tenure has always been found advising the progressive course, assisting in every way towards the betterment of the school system and his business ideas along the planning of school houses, etc., have been indispensable. No man has ever held a directorship in our local school board who has proven of higher worth than Mr. Hartman. He is so recognized by his fellow-members and as well by the entire school interests, including the corps of instructors.

In the municipal election held in spring of 1907 Mr. Hartman was nominated to make the race as one of the two democratic candidates for alderman-at-large. He was given a tremendous vote and triumphantly elected. With no contest or surprise Alderman Hartman was appointed president of the council, which is a position and honor only second to the mayoralty.

The "Review" speaks of Mayor Hartman as a Democrat enthusiastically and convincingly. "In every campaign Mr. Hartman has been at the top of the list with his active interest, his facile pen, his generous subscription; never was known to be disloyal to his ticket and that he should finally rise to the mayoralty of his beloved city is such an evolution as should inspire congratulations from everybody, especially members of the Democratic party."

Mayor Hartman with all his business aggressiveness, is a modest man. He had never faced more than a score or two of men until his speech before thousands at the Grand that really made him in the opinion of the city as a whole. And when he was voted into the mayoralty he had no desire to accentuate the honor by any vain glory, by the arts of the egoist, rather did he escape into the consideration of "general business" as quickly as possible to divert attention from victory. Of course he is a proud man, who is, he that should not be? But those who bear know Sol, keenly intellectual and sensitive, too, though he is, have no fear but he will be mayor in response to the needs of all, treating everyone with consideration and wishing to be friends with all. Although brusque with the brevity that attaches to nearly all men of affairs, yet always there is the gleam of sincere interest in quick appreciation for your mission. He is sunny natured, yet serious, contemplative yet decisive, liberal yet conservative and his happiness, compensation, comes from the joy he feels in having done much and varied good for his friends—the people. He will make Ottumwa a good mayor.

"He is not a candidate at this time for an elected term. He tells us that he may be, however, dependent wholly upon how well he succeeds to the expressed appreciation of the people. 'You may say that unless there is a pressure of general and wholesome endorsement of my administration, one that persuades me to believe that I am doing quite well and the public is reasonably satisfied that I can continue so doing, hence see no special reason why there should be a change next April, I shall not announce myself a primary candidate. On the other hand, if they want me, the leading members of my party first, the citizens generally regardless of party affiliation, then I am not going to shrink or pass the honor of at least trying to make a full term elective mayor of myself.'"

House Without an Attic

One of the most fascinating magazines that comes to our table is "The House Beautiful," of Chicago. The September number is filled with interesting articles about houses, gardens, furniture and decorations of the home. One writer recommends that the new home be built without an attic and says of the attic, "If any man had tried a few years ago to build a house without an attic he would have been set down as cranky or crazy. If no attic how can one store the broken down chairs, and horse hair sofa, the marble top table with the carved grapes on its knees and knuckles, the old bed springs and mattresses, broken sets of crockery, ancient magazines, books, newspapers and the thousand and one things every self-respecting attic ought to have? And the dust—what will one do with the dust without an attic to contain it. From time immemorial the attic was an institution maintained in all first families and some second ones. The march of the family from poverty and ignorance to wealth and learning was faithfully illustrated here by sundry exhibits carefully compiled and steadfastly filed, on floors and shelves and walls."

Death Roll of Last Fourth of July.

The last Fourth of July is spoken of as more sane than any that went before because of the decrease in the death roll, but can any celebration be termed to be sane when the penalty paid this year was 131 lives. But now is the time for dealers in fire works and the public to ponder the statistics. After a dealer has ordered his supply of fire works for the next Fourth is not the right time to try to make him trouble. Do to him as you would others to do unto you if you were in his place. Such a course should dictate that the authorities see every dealer long before the supplies for next year are bought and secure a unanimous agreement from them not to buy, and obtaining that, make ordinances to prevent, and then see to it that the ordinances are enforced.

Although the list of deaths and accidents due to celebration of the Fourth of July is appalling, the "sane" observance of the day this year shows a notable improvement in this respect, according to statistics compiled by the Journal of the American Medical Association and made public September 2. The decrease in accidents is most marked in these sections where restrictive legislation has been put in effect the journal says. The summary shows:

"Two thousand nine hundred and twenty-three persons were injured on the Fourth of July this year, of whom 131 died. Sixty-seven deaths were due to tetanus; 19 were killed outright by fire-arms; 11 by explosives or powder, bombs or torpedoes; 6 by cannon or similar contrivances, while 26, mostly little girls, were burned to death by fire from fireworks. Startling as is this showing, it is the best since 1903 when the journal began keeping its record. In 1903, 4449 persons were injured, of whom 486 lost their lives, 496 dying from tetanus."

"The grand total for eight years shows 37,526 persons have been injured in Independence Day celebrations. Of these 1682 died—604 as the direct result of their injuries, and 968 from tetanus following injuries. One hundred twenty-two persons have lost their eyesight; 551 have lost the use of one eye; 482 have lost the use of arms, legs or hands, and 1541 have been crippled by the loss of fingers."

"The detailed figures for 1910 show 72 cases of lockjaw, 67 of which were fatal; 7 persons lost their sight; 33 lost one eye; 26 lost arms, legs or hands, and 114 lost fingers."

"The decrease from 1903 to 1910 is due to more intelligent methods of celebration, the most marked decrease occurring in States where the agitation for restrictive measures was most urgent. Massachusetts had this year only one-seventh as many injuries as it had the previous year; Missouri, New Jersey and New York reduced their injuries to one-third; Illinois and Ohio to one-half; Pennsylvania reduced its injuries to two-thirds of last year's; Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin show larger totals than a year ago."

The three prominent campaign issues staring every voter in the face in the present congressional campaign are the failure of the Taft administration with its Ballinger and other scandals, the broken platform promises of a downward revision of the tariff and Cannonism.

President Taft's administration has been a disappointment to his friends and from one end of the country to the other this disappointment has been finding expression. It started in staid old Massachusetts, a Democrat being elected in a Republican district and has swept over the land. Everywhere the Insurgents or Progressive Republicans are winning over the Regulars and their triumph is a protest against the administration, and against the broken promises of a platform pledging a downward revision of the tariff. The Regulars are standpaters on an administration discredited by scandals and by the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, protecting the swollen fortunes of the privileged class created by tariff. The progressive and Insurgents are those who say a promise is a promise and must be made good. Now the way is open to every voter to express disapproval of the dishonesty of broken promises and that is to take away from the administration the support of a congressman who supports the administration with his vote. A vote for the Republican nominee means that you approve the failure of the Taft administration and that you approve the broken promises of a downward revision of the tariff and that you approve of Cannonism.

Now what is Cannonism? It is the arbitrary one-man rule idea in the legislative branch of the government. The representatives do not legislate when Cannonism prevails. The Speaker makes up the calendar. He absolutely dictates what legislation will be considered and with his power against a bill it does not have the slightest chance to be considered.

Speaker Cannon personified the extreme limit to which this power of the Speaker had grown. There is only one way to express your disapproval of Cannonism and that is to vote for the Democratic nominee, who stands for legislation by the representatives of the people instead of by Cannon.

CLOUDING THE ISSUES.

The voter should not be misled by the very apparent attempt in and around Hanover to cloud the issues of the present congressional campaign. It seems difficult for Hanover to be politically straight when it comes to a congressional campaign and this year when there was no desire in any quarter to remember the past it remained for a Hanover man to play the Pharisee. He agreed to take the position of County Chairman of York county because of alleged promises of the Democratic nominee to make affidavits of matters immaterial to the issues, and then he resigns the position because he says the affidavits were not made. The Democratic people at the primaries nominated Andrew Brodbek and gave no authority to a county chairman to ask affidavits of a nominee. What business had a county chairman to ask affidavits of a candidate? It could not have been for the good of the Democratic ticket and the nominee. A county chairman who would not take a candidate's word would not have known how to take his affidavit. Asking for the affidavit looks like a snare laid for the nominee and the resignation convicts of a disappointment in not entrapping the candidate. This is so much tomfoolery to get the voter away from the clear plain issues of the present congressional campaign. Cannonism, broken promises of a downward revision of the tariff and a corresponding higher cost of living and the failure of the Taft administration. It is greatly to be deplored that all the Hanover Democrats can not play fair all the time, especially with Democrats, but while a few are kicking up a dust to cloud the issues for the purpose of helping the opposition, let no voter be fooled by the exhibition. Remember the great issues all over the country and the ones as prominent in this district as anywhere in the country. When you have a chance to hit Cannonism and the broken platform promises of a downward revision of the tariff, hit them hard with a vote for the Democratic nominee.

HAVE you heard the news from Maine? The first Democratic governor elected since 1880. The last Democratic governor was Harris M. Plaistead, elected in 1889 and his son Frederick W. Dress Caught in Machinery.

The three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Neiderer, residing on the Judge Jenkins farm near Conewago Chapel had a narrow escape last week. The men were engaged at threshing and the child, who was playing about the barn, came in contact with the rods extending from the power to the threshers. Her clothing caught fast and were wrapped about the rods until the child's body was hurled around with every revolution. Fortunately the rods were at such a height that only her feet struck the ground at each turn, but they were badly bruised, rendering her unable to walk. There were also other bruises and sprains to the body and limbs but not of a serious nature. The child's cries attracted the attention of the threshers and the machine was stopped as quickly as possible. At last accounts the child was improving.

DEATH OF AGED CITIZEN

MRS. CHARLOTTE E. PICKING
DIED IN HER 90TH YEAR.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Reinecker,
Mother of Ten Children—Other
Deaths of Week.

Mrs. CHARLOTTE E. PICKING, widow of the late Henry A. Picking, and one of the oldest citizens of the town died on last Saturday evening at 10 o'clock at the advanced age of 89 years, 7 months and 6 days. Mrs. Picking had been in feeble health for many years, the last illness however covered a period of about two weeks. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Walter and was born on the Walter homestead north of town and after her marriage to Mr. Picking lived many years in Straban township. She was a member of the College Lutheran church. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, services by Rev. Henry Anstadt and interment in the Evergreen cemetery. She leaves one son and two daughters, Harry C. Picking and Miss Alice Picking of this place, and Mrs. A. H. F. Fischer of Easton, Pa.

Mrs. ANNA MARY VIRGINIA REINECKER, widow of the late Samuel Reinecker, died in Butler township on Tuesday of last week, aged 52 years and 7 months. She was ill but ten days and cause of death was a paralytic stroke. Her maiden name was Cashman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Cashman of Gettysburg. Her mother is now Mrs. John Williams of this place. Her husband died suddenly last year. The funeral on last Thursday was conducted by Rev. T. C. Hesson of Arendtsville, the deceased being a member of the Reformed church of that place and interment being made in the Evergreen cemetery. She leaves ten children, Mervin Reinecker of Biglerville, Miss Lillie Reinecker of Philadelphia, Mrs. Marshall Eck and Meely Reinecker of Gettysburg, Mary, Clarence, Grace, Ruth, Paxton, and Charles at home. She is survived by one brother, Frank Cashman of Hanover, and also by five step sisters and one step brother, Mrs. Edward Reiling, Mrs. Wm. Eden, Mrs. George Taylor, Misses Alice and Ada Williams, and Albert Williams.

JOHN DECKER, the well known merchant of Hunterstown, died on Monday evening of last week aged 54 yrs. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Decker, and for over twenty years had conducted a store in Hunterstown. The funeral was held on last Wednesday, services by Rev. Fred Goeller, interment in the Presbyterian cemetery at Hunterstown. He leaves a widow and three sons, Albert Decker of Waynesboro, Howard and Floyd at home. A sister and four brothers survive, Mrs. Sarah Lee and Charles Decker of Hunterstown, Henry, Peter and George Decker of Bowdler.

Rev. Dr. STEPHEN M. WIESE, pastor of the St. Lawrence German Catholic Church of Harrisburg for the past 19 years, and well known in this county, died on Monday, Sept. 5, in Brook-Mn. In September of last year he was attacked by pneumonia and has been in failing health since that time.

Miss RACHAEL C. GULLEN died at home of Philip Weaver, Straban township, on last Thursday, aged 53 years, 7 months and 23 days. She had lived with the Weaver family for the past 32 years. The funeral was held on last Saturday, services by Rev. E. E. Dietterich, interment at Goodyear. She was born near Goodyear and is survived by her father, John M. Gulden and a brother of that place and a sister, Mrs. John Wagner of York.

EMMA MILLER, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paul Miller of New Oxford, died on last Wednesday from brain fever and spasms, aged 7 months and 23 days. Funeral on last Friday, interment in the New Oxford cemetery.

HARRY LUTHER HEAGY, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heagy of York street, died on last Tuesday afternoon aged 24 days. Funeral on Thursday, services by Rev. G. W. Sherrick, interment in Evergreen cemetery.

JOHN A. SHULLEY of Emporia, Kan., died Aug. 21, in his 59th year. He was born in Fairfield and lived there until his removal to Kansas in 1878, and had been living in Emporia since 1883. He was a plumber by occupation and worked at the trade until a year ago when his health began to fail. He leaves a widow, one daughter and three sons, all of Emporia. He is survived by two brothers and one sister, Frederick Shulley, David Shulley and Mrs. Shertzer, all of Fairfield.

Mrs. SUMMERFIELD STULLER of Cumberland township, died at her home on the Emmitsburg road last Wednesday morning, aged 30 years. She leaves besides her husband three children, William, Jerre and an infant child. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hockey.

JOHN SMITH, the ditcher, died last week with his boots on at the work at which he excelled, digging ditches. He had been employed by Jacob Schindel at ditch digging on his farm near Hagerstown. He was seen as usual at breakfast but was missing at dinner. A search was made for him and he was found in a ditch he had been digging, dead. John Smith, the ditcher, was known from one end of this county to the other end. He had been digging ditches all his life and he was in a class by himself. He would not dig ditches by the day, but by the yard and he would simply make the dirt fly and made good money. He had as beautiful an Irish brogue as ever came out of the mouth of a native of the Emerald Island, but into that same mouth went his worst enemy, for he was addicted to heavy drinking. Although in his 84th year he was alert and powerful and enjoyed good health until the time of his death. Exposure had no effect on his rugged constitution or perhaps it was the exposure that made and kept him strong. On one occasion it is said he lay out blind drunk in a pouring rain of two nights and one day and did not take cold. His drinking was of the incessant sort and had been so for over 60 years and much of it he worked off in the hard labor in the ditches. Periodically between ditch digging contracts he turned up in town and became noisy, but when John was not deep in his cups he had that peculiar attractive something about him which distinguishes the full blood Irishman.

ROBERT C. KEEFER, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fred KEEFER of McSherrystown, died last Saturday aged 8 months. Interment on Sunday in St. Mary's cemetery.

Father Corby Monument.

It is expected that the monument to be erected to the memory of Father Corby near the Wheatfield of the battlefield, will be ready the latter part of October and that the unveiling ceremony will be held at that time or early in November.

The movement to erect the monument was started in Philadelphia about a year ago by the late General St. Clair Mulholland and the money has been quickly raised. The statue will cost about $5000 and more than $4000 has already been subscribed. An effort is being made to complete the fund at once.

The memorial is now being modeled by Samuel A. Murray of Philadelphia. It is of heroic size, representing the brave priest in the act of granting absolution.

Father Corby will be represented in the uniform of his rank of Captain of cavalry and will be placed on the rock on which he stood and gave the general absolution to the Irish Brigade before entering the whirlpool of the fight at the Wheatfield.

The design has been approved by the War Department. It will contain the following inscription: "To the memory of Rev. William Corby, C. S. C., Chaplain Eighty-eighth Regiment, New York Infantry, Second Brigade, First Division, Second Corps, The Irish Brigade, July 2, 1863."

Surviving members of the Irish Brigade and of the One Hundred and Sixteenth Pa. Infantry, commanded on that memorable day by General Mulholland, will be there as invited guests.

Father Corby was born in Detroit, October 2, 1831, and entered the Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana, when 19 years old. In 1861 he resigned as prefect of discipline of the university and enlisted as chaplain in the Eighty-eighth New York Volunteers, of the Irish Brigade, camped at Alexandria, Virginia. He followed the fortunes of the brigade for three years and in the numerous battles in which it took part he carried consolation to the afflicted and gave the rites of his church to those in spiritual need and often when conflicts were fiercest.

Paris Fashions for Americans.

The American woman has now reached the pass where she never buys her outfit for the season without first being sure what Paris has decided upon as the fashionable thing.

Following its usual custom, inaugurated several years ago, The North American will, on Sunday, September 18, issue its special Paris fashion number, it being an eight-page section in connection with its regular Sunday paper.

The styles represent the very latest in Paris dressmaking art. The designs printed were chosen from the best showings of the representative makers of fashionable garments. After seeing them the woman can form her own idea and make her own choice of the American goods that are offered. She can make sure that she is getting up-to-date garments. There is always a big demand for The North American's special fashion numbers. It is advisable to order of the agent or newsdealer well in advance.

Railroad Section Hand Killed.

Samuel Kaltridge, of Hanover, was killed on Tuesday of last week near Hanover. He was employed as a section hand for a number of years, under foreman William Tucker. The trackmen were working at the East End, near Hanover, when the fatal accident occurred. Passenger train No. 43, due there at 9:40, in charge of Conductor George Maurath and Engineer Hiram Eichelberger, arrived on schedule time. As the train approached the usual signal was given by the engineer and all the employees but Mr. Kaltridge got off the track. He doubtless became confused and was struck on the back of his head by the engine, causing instant death. His body fell on the track and his left foot was also cut off near the ankle. Conductor Maurath stopped the train, and the unfortunate man was placed in the baggage car and conveyed to Union depot. The deceased was about 55 years old, and is survived by his wife and one son.

BUCHANAN VALLEY.

Mrs. John F. Cole reported a tomato raised in her garden that weighed 2 1/2 pounds.

Samuel L. Irwin was the first farmer to make cider at Kimple's press this year.

Those on the sick list, Mrs. Emma Dillor, Mrs. Margaret Swain, Clara and Winifred Irwin, and little child of Leo McKendrick.

A class of 45 will receive the sacrament of confirmation on Sunday, Sept. 17, in the afternoon. Bishop Shanahan will administer the sacrament of confirmation.

Francis Kimple intends having another story added to his kitchen this week.

Dr. Albert Croner of Cashtown was in the valley on Saturday on his new motorcycle.

Mrs. John F. Cole spent a few weeks in Cashtown recently.

Miss Mary Keuhn of York, visited her mother and father and brother in Cashtown, and Miss Edith Cole of the Narrows recently.

A. W. Cole and wife and Paul Martin and wife went to the "Big Flat" from here last Wednesday, and brought home some fine peaches.

Ellis Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Miller of Brush Run, was engaged at picking pears and fell from the tree breaking a bone in left arm near the elbow and sustaining injuries to the right arm and bruises to his body.

The buildings at Conewago Chapel, including the church, rectory, school house, etc., are being wired to be illuminated by electricity. Four hundred lights will be placed in the grand old church alone.

The automobile craze has struck Bonneauville. The recent purchases of machines in that town are Fabian Staub and Harry Wagonman.

Five head of sheep belonging to Henry Strayer of Latimore township, were killed recently by dogs and two others of the flock injured so badly that they will die. The township auditors met on Monday and allowed $5 apiece for the five and $3 and $2 for the injured ones.

Several weeks ago the oil pipes above Barlow sprung a leak and we are told that the company estimates their loss at over 5000 barrels of crude oil. Large quantities of it went down Rock Creek and people came for miles to scoop it off the water. Some of the farmers have as high as eight or nine barrels, while many more have smaller amounts. Just what use can be made of it in its crude state those who barreled it do not seem to know.

An apple orchard of 80 acres, containing 6000 8-year old trees, near Falling Waters, W. Va., has just been sold for $25,000. The yield this year will be almost 1000 bushels.

Albert A. Miller of Huntington township has a Jersey sweet apple that contained his initials as plain as if they had been printed. The outer skin was not broken but the A A M showed up in white against the other striped part of the apple.

The offices of Dr. A. C. Rice, in the new addition to the Smith property, Main street, McSherrystown, are about completed. This addition adds greatly to the appearance of the building and the offices are pleasantly located and conveniently arranged.

The Rice Brothers' Produce Company is a new firm conducting a produce business from the Biglerville warehouse. Oscar C. Rice will carry on the Biglerville end of the business while Arthur C. Rice will be the Philadelphia representative.

Mrs. Lizetta Storm of Baltimore who is in her 99th year and remarkably active and retentive in her faculties, and who has been making annual trips to the county for many years, was the guest of Mrs. Maria Bievenour of Abbotstown, last week.

Sven Hedin's Experience.
Dr. Sven Hedin, the famous traveler and explorer, had some terrible experiences during a journey through Tibet. He told how, owing to the high altitude at which he and his party traveled, that to unbutton one's coat meant acute pain and tension to an overwrought heart, which literally was at the point of breaking. His only safety lay in the fact that he never left the saddle for a single moment from morning till evening. Had he done so his heart would have given way. At one time they were nine days without water, and when at last he saw a small pool Dr. Hedin drank five pints without stopping.

The Gift.
"Accused of begging!" exclaimed the magistrate. "Why, you are the very man who was begging at my door yesterday!"
"Yes," assented the vagrant, with a sneer, "and you didn't give me anything."
"Well, I'll give you something now—fourteen days!"

And He Did.
"I believe we are all ready," said the young man who was about to officiate as the bridegroom.
"All right, I will join you in a moment," replied the clergyman, rising.—Chicago Tribune.

NEWS FROM ALONG THE COUNTY'S HIGHWAYS

HAPPENINGS, DOINGS, PERSONALS AND WHAT ISEEING TALK-ED ABOUT IN TOWNS AND TOWNSHIPS.

Some of the Most Entertaining Topics and Interesting Thoughts and Unusual Things of the Moment to the People of Adams County.

Round Hill Graveyard.

The East Berlin correspondent of the Compiler recently visited the Round Hill graveyard and writes that he found there the tombstone of Dr. John B. Arnold. The inscription on stone indicated that Dr. Arnold was born in 1775 and died in 1822. Dr. Arnold laid out the town of Hampton. Our correspondent says he often heard his grandfather say that for a long time the place was called Arnoldstown and that just now it got the name of Hampton is unknown to him. The late Associate Judge Wierman was married to a daughter of Dr. Arnold. He also found in same graveyard the tombstone of the Hodge family and one of the stones bore the inscription: Samuel Hodge, birth unknown, died March 11, 1783, the strongest man on earth. The story is told that there was a strong man in Cumberland county and he came over the mountain to fight Hodge. It happened that Hodge were at a cider press making cider. The Cumberland county man went to the cider press and asked where the strong man Hodge was. The latter said, "I am the man," and the visitor replied, "I've come to fight you." Hodge replied, "We will take a drink of cider first" and picked up a barrel of cider containing 33 gallons and took a drink out of the bung hole and handed the barrel over to the Cumberland county man who answered, "I don't want to fight you."

I found another tombstone with inscription, William Hodge, died 1821. The Hodge were raised on farm one mile east of Hampton, now owned by Oscar Miller. Our correspondent adds: "My grandfather bought the farm at public sale in 1836, 200 acres, at $20 per acre and his is the first name after the Hodge, from Hodge to Sheffer. William Hodge was an old butcher and I often heard the late Captain William Jones say he knew William Hodge. He was noted for the fat horses he owned and when people asked him what he fed his horses to make them so fat, his answer was "Only chop feed three times a day."

that are built upon land now owned by himself and his relatives.

Prof. Harry pictures the dizzy pinnacles he expects to attain by reason of his portion of the $400,000,000. The venerable music master has already acquired the saving habit.

The letter which broke the peaceful tranquility of Prof. Harry's old age was written by his niece, Mrs. Addie Champ, of 6320 Winslow street, East End, Pittsburgh. Mrs. Champ was a son Merle, employed in the Mellon Bank, who is helping in the search for the treasure, and a brother in California, who is encouraging the project. Mrs. Champ gave her uncle a great deal of biographical data, upon which he is now at work.

Prof. Harry tells an interesting life story. For 50 years he has traveled over the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia teaching music to scores of pupils. He has done all his traveling by driving a horse and buggy, and many wild experiences have been his.

Witnessed Corn Dance.

Herman H. Schick, son of the late Andrew Schick of this place, sends us an account of the corn dance of the Osage Indian tribe witnessed at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

On August 26, 27 and 28 hundreds of members of the Osage tribe of Indians were gathered in Tulsa participating in their annual green corn feast and stomp dance, probably the last of its kind that will ever be held by this fast diminishing tribe of Indians, who now are the richest of all the clans, due to the fact that their allotment given them by the government laid in eastern Oklahoma, where the great oil fields are now giving untold wealth to both the white man and redskin, with the odds in favor of the former.

The dance was held at Orcutt's park and was an occasion of feasting and dancing for the three days and nights. The dancing began each night at midnight. The "green corn" dance is decidedly original and unique. A small fire is built and around it the Indians, men and women, in single file, move slowly, so slowly as to be painful to the spectators. They hop up and down and seem to make no more progress than the hour hand on the clock, but they get around the circle in due time, always "stomping" to a monotonous chant kept up by one or two trained singers. The men who participate in the dance are garbed only in breech cloths and their bodies and faces are streaked with the multi-colored hues of the home-made war paints of the Indian.

The dance is an old custom with the Indians of North America and is really their Thanksgiving festival. It takes place after the corn crop is made and is attended by every Indian, man, woman and child, for hundreds of miles around.

Helped to Build Court House.

John Spottswood, of Harrisburg, was a recent visitor to Gettysburg. He had been employed on the construction of the Court House in 1858-59 and was much interested in a tour over the building, the first since that time. The minute he stood in front of it he exclaimed recognizing the big double doors, and he said he had helped to put on the hinges. And he also exclaimed at the old semi-circular benches he had helped to put in the Court Room and he went to the cupola and took a look at the old bell he said he helped to put in place and was the first one to ring it. He took a look at the additions and improvements and expressed his great pleasure in having been able to see the building again.

THE SOOTHING SPRAY of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an atomizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to satisfy. Sold by all druggists for 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

McIlhenny—King Reunion.

Invitations have been sent out for the McIlhenny—King reunion, whose ancestors settled on the banks of the Great Conewago creek, in York, now Adams county, Pennsylvania, about 1765. The second annual reunion will be held at the Great Conewago Presbyterian church, at Hunterstown, Adams county, Saturday, September 24. The first reunion, held last year, was attended by about two hundred persons. A permanent organization was then effected and the reunions will be held each year.

HERE'S HOPING EDDIE PLANK

Will be in the Winning of World's Championship by the Athletics.

The interest in the Athletics of Philadelphia, Eddie Plank's team is feverish throughout Adams County. Hundreds of fans, wide enthusiastic fans, and mildly interested fans turn each day to the baseball score, for they all want to see Eddie's team win the pennant of the American League and then take the World's Championship from the Cubs of Chicago.

The Athletics and Cubs are being compared by the baseball experts all over country and opinion seems divided in the picking of the world's champion for 1910.

The Chicago Cubs have probably held together longer as a first class team than any other aggregation ever gotten together and it is practically the same team which went down before the White Sox in the battle for the championship in 1906. The players in that year were all in their prime and with the same team won the National League pennants for 1907 and 1908. They have come back this year with the same team and there are experts saying that after a team has won two or three pennants with the same men in the line up, it reaches the reconstruction period.

The plan of Connie Mack of the Athletics is to develop young players to take the place of the old ones. He has always some old players and between the old and new the Athletics have been the biggest money winner in the American League in the 11 years of its existence. Six of the old guard are with the Athletics since the winning of the pennant of 1905. Eddie Plank being one of the six.

The experts have figured out that the Athletics are sure winners of the American pennant. They say the Athletics have about 30 games to play and to reach the century mark need only win half the remaining games, and if they win half, Boston would have to win all but three of their games to beat the Athletics while New York could afford to lose only two out of 33. The Athletics could lose two thirds of their games while their closest rival was winning two thirds and still Mack's men would win out by a comfortable margin.

The World series is expected to start on Oct. 11, and the expectation of some of the experts that Macks men will win the world's championship is based upon the fact that the Athletics has the strongest pitching force it has ever had. The records showing that they have the greatest pitchers in the country. They have been showing great team work and have exhibited great ability to hit consistently.

SIMPLY A MATTER OF LOGIC

Relative Growth of Corn in Straight and Crooked Furrows Easily Accounted For.

He was a long, lank mountaineer, leaning on the log "rider" of a log fence in the shade of an Ozark post oak. Behind him, hitched to a dilapidated plow, two bony mules, with drooping ears and lazily flapping tails, drowsed in the sun.

"Fine crop of corn you've got there," said the passer-by, who had stopped for a drink from the gourd dipper at the spring. "But aren't those rows rather crooked?"

"I reckon so," answered the farmer, surveying the straggling rows of discouraged looking corn. "Yes, they're right smart crooked. I reckon it'd break any snake in two to follow them rows."

"What's the reason?" inquired the one thirsting for information. "Isn't it just as easy to make 'em straight?"

The "native" shifted his "galus" on his shoulder, and changed his quid of tobacco from one cheek to the other. "Wall, you see, stranger," he imparted confidentially. "A heap more corn'll grow in crooked rows than in straight ones."

"You don't say! How do you account for that?"

Flapping the rope lines over the mules' backs and preparing to make another furrow across the corn patch, the mountaineer replied: "There's a heap more crooked rows than there's straight ones. Haw, Buck, git up," he said.

SALESMAN HAD BRIGHT IDEA

His Knowledge of Human Nature Enabled Him to Rise to Head of His Profession.

"Young man," says the automobile manufacturer to the new salesman who has astonished the organization by the rapid fire sales he has made in the two months of his employment. "I must congratulate you on your work."

"Thank you, sir," replies the new salesman, modestly.

"I know we build the best auto in the market," says the manufacturer, "but even at that I cannot understand how you can sell ten times as many machines as the very best man we have had prior to you. How do you do it?"

"Well, sir," explains the new salesman, the light of honest pride in his eyes, "I always ask the customer to take a ride in one of our machines as the first move toward getting acquainted with its riding qualities. Of course he accepts the invitation. I then take him out on the boulevard and get arrested and fined for fast running. After that there is no argument."

Ten minutes later the new salesman leaves the private office with a block of preferred stock tucked away in his inside pocket.—Judge's Library.

Rice, Gettysburg Academy; C. S. Rice, Weaksville, Cynthiana, Indiana; schools Ebenburg, Pa.; H. C. Lady, Arendtsville, Pa.; Mrs. L. Lady, Ottumwa, Launa, Rafensperger, Belmont; Kiefer Rafensperger, Cold Springs; Lina Jacob-Pine Hill; Edna Miller, Union; Ruth Knouss, Locust Grove; Lulu Hoffman, Oak Grove; Amos Sheely, Arendtsville Grammar.

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and adies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., or Philadelphia, Pa.

Three Essential Elements.

There are three essential elements, according to "The Philadelphia Record," that make for success in a modern newspaper: First, it must print all the news, with an eye to the interests of all types of readers, in attractive and entertaining form. Second, whatever political cause it may editorially espouse, it must be fair, free of outside dictation, and sincere in advocating the policies it believes to be best for the general welfare. Third, it must be clean, wholesome and elevating in its influence.

"The Record" itself possesses all these elements of success, and then some. Independently Democratic in politics, it is as nearly nonpartisan as a newspaper can be in its news columns, which fully and accurately cover the entire field tributary to Philadelphia. Aside from its news departments, including its daily market reports, which are the recognized authority in produce transactions, it is pre-eminent in several other features that have contributed immensely to its popularity as a family newspaper. The last word on household affairs, science, fashion and farm progress is found in its regular departments. Its famous "Reporters' Nostalgia" column is widely quoted throughout the country. It is the leader in the field of sports. It is practically the only daily paper in the East for horse news. And its cartoonist, who hits off the principal events of the day in immutable style, is second to none in the United States.

"The Philadelphia Record" has another element of news value that is of particular interest to the women of the family. The store news is generally of secondary importance in their eyes only to the chronicle of the world's doings. "The Record," it is worth noting prints more department store advertising than any other newspaper in Philadelphia.

Property Sales.

The farm of the estate of W. W. Hater near Abbottstown, containing 85 acres has been sold to Alfred Wildasin for $6000.

Daniel Emlet has sold his 40 acre farm in Latimore township to J. Marsden Bowers for $1200.

E. C. Myers has sold his Huntington township farm of 55 acres to Daniel Peiffer for $1800.

T. B. Rinehart purchased at public sale the Anna Fickel property in Latimore township for $866.

Fred Gensler sold his 24 acre farm near East Berlin to William Straley for $1005.

Albert Howe of Latimore township has sold his farm to W. Derlin Jacobs for $2900.

P. C. Smith has sold his fine home in East Berlin to Christian Myers for $1700.

William Trimmer of Straban township has purchased the Charles Trimmer property in New Chester.

IRON SPRINGS.

Norman Bennett has in his possession a rattlesnake having 11 rattles and a button. Mr. Bennett was hauling wood and accidentally tramped upon the snake when he heard it rattle, he at once looped the reptile and has it in a box.

The schools of Hamiltonban township opened Aug. 29 with a good attendance.

D. R. McCleaf has gone to Winchester, Va., where he has a sawmill in operation.

Wm. Heagy has gone to Waynesboro where he expects to be employed for the coming autumn.

Frank Felix made a business trip to Waynesboro on last Saturday.

The first educational meeting of Hamiltonban township will be held at Weeping Willow school, Miss Pearle McCleaf teacher, Sept. 30.
